

Cutest animal memes on the internet

If there's buzz around an event, can internet memes be far behind? As the world celebrated International Yoga Day on June 21st, these furry friends also seemed to have been gripped by yoga fervour. Here are some of the cutest pictures we found that will surely make you smile

Cute memes with animals in weird poses, which look like yoga asanas have been on the internet much before Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call to celebrate June 21 as International

Yoga Day. But it's only expected that these memes have resurfaced around this time, thanks to the flurry of activity around the country to show enthusiasm for the benefits of yoga. Those who practice yoga regularly relate to some of these memes instantly, and others, who've been passively watching yoga take the world by storm over the years, will also find these furry creatures in yoga asanas downright funny.

